What is GMIS ?

Government Management Information Sciences (GMIS) is an organization consisting of government agencies at all levels of State, County, or Local government and Public Educational Institutions having a business responsibility for IT.

GMIS membership is comprised of government agencies, not individuals within these organizations. While member agencies differ in many aspects, it is a homogenous group with similar interests. Not to be confused with other groups, GMIS focuses solely on situations related to government information processing.

The purpose of GMIS is to provide a forum for the exchange of ideas, information, and techniques; to foster enhancements in hardware, software and communications as they relate to government activities. This is one of the reasons why GMIS was organized. All of us need help from time to time and GMIS fosters sharing among all levels of government involved in our vastly growing world of technology.

Revival

GMIS announces the return of the very popular IT Managers' breakfast forum for IT Leaders in State & Local Government, and Public Educational Institutions. This forum offers educational presentations, the sharing of information on State and Local IT initiatives, and the opportunity to network on common problems and solutions with peer professionals.

With the almost universal move toward enterprise systems, improved connectivity between all levels of government, and the need to work smarter (not necessarily harder), this forum supports the very essence of the "Think globally, act locally" movement.

To encourage the unfettered attendance and participation of key IT decision-makers in both Government and Education, these breakfast events will be hosted entirely by the Utah chapter of GMIS.

As a solutions provider to Government and Education, you have two unique opportunities to support the local Chapter of GMIS in this effort. Whether you provide an annual sponsorship of the GMIS Utah Chapter, or participate in a presentation, you will be helping to shape the future of effective collaborative government.

1) Sponsor GMIS-UT

$ 500 per year

Support local GMIS in providing a collaborative forum for Government and Education IT professionals. These forums promote information sharing and solutions awareness across all levels of government. Vendors sponsoring GMIS this way will have their logo featured on all breakfast invitations for the year and on the GMIS Utah Chapter web site. Renewal opportunities will be sent out to existing sponsors each November for the calendar year ahead.

2) Presentations

$ 2,000 + Presentation Costs

Perhaps you have a dynamic speaker you wish to sponsor or a presentation you would like to deliver yourself? The $2,000 sponsorship amount helps GMIS pay for the breakfast. You will be responsible for the arrangement and costs associated with your presenter and the presentation (A/V equipment from the hotel etc.). Of course, you will be allowed a few minutes to introduce your company, location, market, and the kind of solutions you offer. A summary of this information should also be provided in written form for inclusion in the invitation that is emailed to our mailing list one week prior to each event. In addition, presentation sponsors may feature their banner and sales literature at the venue.

The time available for presentations is 45 minutes, and the content must be of an appropriate, applicable and educational nature (no product sales pitches please).

All sponsorship opportunities are assigned on a "first come - first served" basis and bookings are confirmed on receipt of your payment to "GMIS - Utah Chapter".

Please call to find out when our next Leadership Breakfast is available. We would also be happy to review an overview of your proposed presentation to ensure that the content is both timely and applicable to our executive-level audience.
